Rumors that the Anti-Saloon League will hold a parade as a public protest against the candidacy of Charles G. Bartlett, manager of the Honolulu Brewery, for the office or supervisor, are being actively spread by some of the Bartlett forces who believe that Bartlett's cause will be helped rather than injured by the re-

Inquiry from the Anti-Saloon League today showed that no arrangements for any such parade have been made and that on the contrary the league does not intend to voice its objection to the liquor interests in politics in this way. The league is making no personal fight on Mr. Bartlett, although as a matter of principle it opposes his candidacy as well as that of any liquor man in city pol itics, but its opposition will be based on the broad grounds of public policy and not probably manifested in public parades.
